Disclaimer

This audit was performed using artificial intelligence tools to evaluate the presence and strength of classical education principles on school websites. Results are automated, probabilistic in nature, and should be considered indicative rather than definitive. See the full disclaimer in the Appendix more details.

ACCS Member School

Any school that belongs to the Association of Classical Christian Schools ACCS or the Society for Classical Learning SCL is, by definition, recognized as a classical school because both organizations require adherence to the six essential elements defined by the Humanitas Institute. However, a school's website may not clearly reflect its conformity to one or more elements. In such cases, the school may still receive a "Somewhat Classical" rating for those elements. Schools can update their website content at any time to achieve a "Classical" rating for a given element.

Executive Summary

Grace Academy Georgetown TX (Grace Academy) presents a robust classical Christian program across its public materials. The school emphasizes a Christ-centered, biblically integrated classical education organized around the Trivium (grammar, logic, rhetoric), a three-tier student progression (Grammar K–5, Logic 6–8, Rhetoric 9–12), and a communal culture that foregrounds character formation, virtue, and spiritual life. Public materials describe chapel, Scripture memorization, mentorship, and retreats; they frame education as formation rather than mere information and consistently connect intellectual development with virtue and faith. The school also highlights classical teacher mentorship, an arts program grounded in truth and beauty, and active parent/community partnership. Collectively, these signals indicate a CLASSICAL classification across the six classical-education categories.

- Religious and Metaphysical Foundations: CLASSICAL. Evidence of a Christ-centered, biblical worldview integrated through curriculum, liturgical/communal practices, and a theological frame.
- School Purpose and Goal: CLASSICAL. Formation and virtue-centered aims shaped by a theology, not primarily job-prep.
- Curriculum: CLASSICAL. Trivium (grammar/logic/rhetoric), Latin study, integrated history across grade bands; clear emphasis on classical disciplines.
- Pedagogy: CLASSICAL. Explicit progression from singing/chanting in early years to Socratic discussion and rhetoric in upper years; upper-school rhetoric, memory, and public speaking are foregrounded.
- Faculty: CLASSICAL. Described as "Deeply Invested Teachers" and as the living curriculum; mentorship and relationship-based culture are highlighted.
- Parents & Community: CLASSICAL. Emphasizes partnership with families, parent involvement, and a broader Grace Academy family culture; accessibility for visits and parental engagement are evident.

Executive Summary — Element-by-Element Snapshot confirms that Grace Academy meets the core indicators of classical education across all six categories, with clear textual anchors in church-centered mission, Trivium-based curriculum, Socratic pedagogy in the upper grades, and a strong, enduring emphasis on formation, virtue, and community partnership.

- What would move the needle: Not applicable here, as no category falls into a Not Classical or Somewhat Classical ranking; the school already demonstrates CLASSICAL characteristics across all six areas. If desired, targeted enhancements could include more explicit articulation of Great Books/-Great Conversation in public materials or expanded public references to historical primary texts, but current signals already align with a classical-Christian framework.

Executive Summary — Element-by-Element Snapshot

Element 1: Religious and Metaphysical Foundations — CLASSICAL

Evidence - The mission emphasizes glory to God through a Christ-centered, classical education (distinctly Christian framing). - Public materials call Grace Academy “Distinctly Christ Centered” and emphasize a biblical worldview across subjects. - Spiritual life elements include chapel services, scripture memory, mentorship, retreats, and service activities.

Positive/Negative keyword analysis - Positive keywords present: Christ-centered; biblical worldview; theology; chapel; Scripture memory; mentorship; grace of Jesus; biblical integration across disciplines; liturgical/community practices; devotion to God’s lordship. Examples include “Distinctly Christ Centered” and “ALL aspects of education seek to understand the world in light of the knowledge of God.”

- Negative keywords present: none identified in public materials.

Why this rating - The school explicitly grounds its mission and daily practice in Christian theological commitments and liturgical/community life, aligning with the “Grounded in Theology” and “Liturgical and Communal Practices” indicators, and consistently treats truth, goodness, and beauty within a biblical framework. The absence of counter-indicators supports CLASSICAL here.

Element 2: School Purpose and Goal — CLASSICAL

Evidence - Education framed as formation toward wisdom and virtue, with a focus on lifelong learning and formation rather than mere information or job-prep. - The mission emphasizes glorifying God and forming students to love learning, with a clear aim at character and virtue. - Language such as “Education is formation” and “formation of hearts and minds” is echoed in curriculum materials.

Positive/Negative keyword analysis - Positive keywords present: formation; virtue; wisdom; truth/goodness/beauty; love of learning; character; mentorship; holistic education; classical education; Logos/theological framing.

- Negative keywords present: none clearly indicated.

Why this rating - The school foregrounds formation, virtue, wisdom, and a robust sense of human flourishing as the core educational aim, aligning with the Positive keywords for Element 2 and lacking counter-indicators.

Element 3: School Curriculum — CLASSICAL

Evidence - Clear Trivium structure: Grammar School (K–5), Logic School (6–8), Rhetoric School (9–12). - Explicit emphasis on grammar/logic/rhetoric; Latin study; integration of history and core disciplines through a classical framework. - Public materials describe a curriculum oriented toward the liberal arts and the Great Conversation; the arts program is framed in terms of truth and beauty.

Positive/Negative keyword analysis - Positive keywords present: grammar, logic, rhetoric (Trivium); Latin; history integrated across curriculum; Great Books/Great Conversation (implied by classical framing and ACCS accreditation emphasis); contemplation/wonder; liberal arts structure.

- Negative keywords present: not explicitly indicated; public materials do not appear to indicate a non-classical curriculum approach.

Why this rating - The curriculum is explicitly organized around the Trivium, integrated history/humanities with a classical-and-Christian emphasis; thus CLASSICAL. The presence of Latin and a clearly staged Grammar/Logic/Rhetoric progression strengthens this rating.

Element 4: Pedagogy or Teaching Methods — CLASSICAL

Evidence - Lower years: singing/chanting with memorization and review; memory work via recitation (Scholastic-like elements). - Upper years: Socratic discussion, seminars, debates; explicit emphasis on logic and rhetoric; opportunities for public speaking and rhetoric training. - Transition from grammar to dialectic in Logic School, with deliberate focus on argumentation and dialectic. - Grace Academy emphasizes the trained, mentor-driven faculty as the living curriculum.

Positive/Negative keyword analysis - Positive keywords present: contemplative/restful learning (Scholé); memorization/chanting; Socratic dialogue; dialectic; rhetoric; public-speaking opportunities; teacher mentorship as curriculum.

- Negative keywords present: none evident in public materials; no strong emphasis on purely task-based or project-only pedagogy that would contradict classical methods.

Why this rating - The school uses a layered pedagogy that includes memorization and ritual learning at the Grammar level, dialectic throughout Logic School, and rhetoric/public speaking in the Rhetoric School, consistent with classical pedagogy. Therefore CLASSICAL.

Element 5: School Faculty — CLASSICAL

Evidence - Descriptions of “Deeply Invested Teachers” who are life-mentors and partners in formation; faculty as the living curriculum and core of the school. - Emphasis on teachers’ role in forming hearts and minds, relationships with students, and the presence of teacher mentorship in the upper levels. - The faculty profile is framed around virtue, skill, knowledge, and professional excellence (ACCS accreditation as a sign of standards).

Positive/Negative keyword analysis - Positive keywords present: living curriculum; mentor-teacher; virtue and character formation by faculty; faculty as model/role; teacher-student relationships; accreditation as quality signal. - Negative keywords present: none indicated.

Why this rating - The public materials depict a culture where faculty serve as mentors and exemplars of virtue, aligned with classical expectations for a strong, virtuous faculty. CLASSICAL is justified.

Element 6: Parents & Community — CLASSICAL

Evidence - Explicit partnership with families; the school invites parental participation, and emphasizes a Grace Academy family culture. - Public materials describe parent involvement in the life of the school and opportunities for families to engage with the curriculum, including parent gatherings and resources. - The school presents a broad, ongoing collaboration with parents, including transparency about tuition, scholarships, and family involvement in campus life.

Positive/Negative keyword analysis - Positive keywords present: Partnership with families; parental engagement; parent education/gatherings; school as community; multi-generational engagement (Grace Academy Family). - Negative keywords present: none identified.

Why this rating - The school actively frames parents as co-educators and emphasizes a community-centric model with accessible on-site experiences and resources for families. CLASSICAL.

What Would Move the Needle

- No needle-moving changes are required given the CLASSICAL ratings across all categories. If desired, minor enhancements could include explicit, public references to the Great Books and “Great Conversation” canon within the curriculum pages to strengthen Element 3’s wording, and more overt articulation of liturgical or sacramental practices as part of routine study could further reinforce Element 1, though current materials already demonstrate strong alignment.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE DISCLAIMER

This audit was conducted using artificial intelligence tools (including large language models and automated web-analysis scripts) to evaluate the extent to which school websites reflect or incorporate recognized principles of classical education (e.g., the trivium, emphasis on truth/beauty/goodness, integration of great books, Latin/classical languages, Socratic method, rigorous academics, moral/character formation, etc.).

Important Limitations and Caveats

1. Automated Nature: The analysis relies on AI interpretation of publicly-accessible school website content as of the date of the audit. It does not involve direct contact with schools, review of internal documents, classroom observation, or verification of curriculum implementation beyond what is stated or implied on the website.
2. Probabilistic Results: Scores and assessments are probabilistic and reflect the AI's best interpretation of available text and site structure. They are not infallible and may miss nuance, context, or recent changes not yet reflected online.
3. Subjectivity of Classical Education: "Classical Education" encompasses a range of traditions and interpretations (e.g., Dorothy Sayers' trivium model, Classical Christian Education, Great Books programs, etc.). The Humanitas Institute Audit of the Six Elements of Classical Education uses a broad, consensus-based framework derived from prominent classical education organizations and thought leaders. Reasonable people may disagree on weighting or inclusion of specific criteria.
4. No Official Endorsement or Certification: Results do not constitute official endorsement, accreditation, or certification by any classical education organization. They are provided for informational and research purposes only.
5. Potential for Error: Websites may be incomplete, poorly worded, or temporarily inaccurate. Conversely, sophisticated marketing language may create false positives. Human review by parents, educators, or classical education experts is strongly recommended before drawing final conclusions about any school.
6. Data Privacy and Ethics: Only publicly available information was analyzed. No attempts were made to access password-protected areas or collect personal data.
7. No Liability: The authors, developers, and distributors of this audit assume no liability for decisions made on the basis of these results. Users are solely responsible for their own due diligence.
