

HUMANITAS
INSTITUTE

Six Elements of Classical Education School Website Audit

School: Bloomfield Christian School
School Website: <https://bloomfieldchristian.com/>

January 7, 2026

Artificial Intelligence Disclaimer

This audit was performed using artificial intelligence tools to evaluate the presence and strength of classical education principles on school websites. Results are automated, probabilistic in nature, and should be considered indicative rather than definitive. See the full disclaimer in the Appendix for more details.

ACCS: ACCREDITED MEMBER SCL: MEMBER

Any school that belongs to the Association of Classical Christian Schools (ACCS) and the Society for Classical Learning (SCL) is, by definition, recognized as a classical school because both organizations require adherence to the six essential elements defined by the Humanitas Institute. However, a school's website may not clearly reflect its conformity to one or more elements. In such cases, the school may still receive a "Somewhat Classical" rating for those elements. Schools can update their website content at any time to achieve a "Classical" rating for a given element.

Overall Classification: CLASSICAL

Executive Summary

Overall classification: CLASSICAL

School: Bloomfield Christian School (BCS) Website used for audit: <https://www.bloomfieldchristian.com>

BCS articulates an explicitly classical, Christian vision featuring strong metaphysical/theological grounding, a clearly stated telos centered on the cultivation of wisdom and virtue, and a curriculum ordered by the liberal arts and the Trivium. The school directly references "truth, goodness, and beauty," the Trivium (grammar, logic, rhetoric), Socratic teaching, memorization, and scholé (leisure) as part of its pedagogy. Evidence for faculty formation language and parent formation exists but is less fully developed in public materials compared to the other categories.

Aggregate rating across the Six Elements: - Religious & Metaphysical Foundations: CLASSICAL - Purpose & Goal: CLASSICAL - Curriculum: CLASSICAL - Pedagogy: CLASSICAL - Faculty: SOMEWHAT CLASSICAL - Parents & Community: SOMEWHAT CLASSICAL

These ratings are derived from a mandatory keyword analysis against the "Six Essential Elements" lexicon and framework, with category-by-category counts and coverage detailed below.

Element 1: Religious and Metaphysical Foundations

1) Keywords found in school materials (examples)

- Positive indicators observed on BCS pages: "Gospel of Christ," "Scriptures at the center," "Christ-centered," "Biblical Christian life," "relationship with God," "Christian worldview," "true, good, and beautiful," "telos."
- Lexicon positives these match: truth, goodness, beauty, virtue, wisdom, telos; theology, sacred scripture; faith and reason; Christ-centered education.
- Liturgical/communal practices explicit references (chapel/liturgy) not clearly surfaced in the crawl; however, the Christ-centered framing and Scripture-centric integration are explicit.

2) Keyword comparison to "Six Elements" lists

- Positive matches: truth, goodness, beauty; virtue/wisdom; telos; theology; sacred scripture; Christ-centered.
- Negative indicators: none detected (no "values-neutral," "moral relativism," "secular humanism," etc.).

3) Quantitative estimate

- Positive hits: 10
- Negative hits: 0
- Approx. positive ratio: 100%
- Coverage of sub-elements (moral realism, theological grounding, liturgical practice): ~67% (2 of 3 explicitly evidenced)

4) Rating

- CLASSICAL Justification: Strong metaphysical and theological statements; explicit transcendental language; explicit Christ-centered integration across subjects (high positive density, moderate coverage due to limited explicit liturgy references).
-

Element 2: School Purpose and Goal

1) Keywords found in school materials (examples)

- “The primary purpose ... is to cultivate something within,” “telos ... more fully human,” “true, good, and beautiful,” “cultivation of wisdom and virtue.”

2) Keyword comparison

- Matches the positive list for purpose/goal: cultivation of wisdom and virtue; pursuit of truth, goodness, beauty; formation not mere information.

3) Quantitative estimate

- Positive hits: 9
- Negative hits: 0 (no “college and career ready”/“21st-century skills” emphasis)
- Positive ratio: 100%
- Coverage of sub-elements: ~100%

4) Rating

- CLASSICAL Justification: Purpose is framed in explicitly classical terms, repeatedly invoking telos, virtue, wisdom, and the transcendentals.
-

Element 3: School Curriculum

1) Keywords found

- “Classical Christian Education ... by means of the seven liberal arts,” “Trivium,” “grammar, logic, rhetoric,” “Latin ... and Greek,” “classical liberal arts.”
- Parent testimony mentions Latin and Greek, and “exceptional literature.”

2) Keyword comparison

- Strong alignment with positive curriculum indicators: liberal arts; Trivium (grammar, logic, rhetoric); classical languages (Latin, Greek). While “Great Books” is not explicitly named in the sample passages, the curriculum and reading approach are consistent with primary sources and classics.

3) Quantitative estimate

- Positive hits: 8
- Negative hits: 0 (no “social studies replaces history,” no “STEM-first,” no “project-based learning dominance”)
- Positive ratio: 100%
- Coverage: ~80% (Trivium, liberal arts, languages clearly evidenced; named “Great Books” term not directly cited on the pages captured)

4) Rating

- CLASSICAL Justification: Trivium-centric curriculum with classical languages; breadth consistent with the lexicon; minimal to no negative indicators.
-

Element 4: School Pedagogy (Teaching Methods)

1) Keywords found

- “Utilize both didactic ... and Socratic ... method,” “memorization using the oral/aural approach,” “Practice Leisure (schola) ... contemplation.”
- These align to Socratic dialogue, memorization/recitation, restful learning (scholé).

2) Keyword comparison

- Strong alignment with positive pedagogy indicators: Socratic, chanting/memorization (oral/aural memorization), scholé/restful learning. No negative pedagogical indicators (e.g., “project-based only,” “student-directed constructivism”) detected.

3) Quantitative estimate

- Positive hits: 7
- Negative hits: 0
- Positive ratio: 100%
- Coverage: ~75% (Socratic, memory, scholé clear; explicit upper-school rhetoric orations not shown on the sampled pages, though Trivium is present)

4) Rating

- CLASSICAL Justification: Public-facing materials explicitly claim Socratic method, memory practices, and scholé, which are hallmark classical pedagogies.
-

Element 5: Faculty

1) Keywords found

- “Provide a clear model of the Biblical Christian life through our Teachers, Staff and the Board.” This emphasizes teachers as models of virtue and faith.

2) Keyword comparison

- Aligns with “teachers as models of virtue,” “mentorship.” However, fewer explicit references to “faculty of friends,” “portrait of a teacher,” or faculty classical formation are visible in the crawl excerpts.

3) Quantitative estimate

- Positive hits: 2
- Negative hits: 0
- Positive ratio: 100%
- Coverage: ~50% (modeling is explicit; less public detail on mentoring/collegial culture/teacher profile)

4) Rating

- SOMEWHAT CLASSICAL Justification: Clear virtue-modeling by faculty is named, but less evidence of broader faculty formation language in public materials.
-

Element 6: Parents and Community

1) Keywords found

- “Assisting church families,” mission to partner with parents is reflected in testimony (“genuinely partners with parents”); presence of “Parent Links;” admissions CTAs for visits (open house/tours).

2) Keyword comparison

- Positive indicators present: partnership with families. Less explicit on ongoing parent formation (e.g., book studies, seminars). No negative “consumer-only” or “parents as customers” language observed.

3) Quantitative estimate

- Positive hits: 3
- Negative hits: 0
- Positive ratio: 100%
- Coverage: ~60–70% (partnership and welcome are evident; parent education/formation opportunities are not clearly described in the sampled data)

4) Rating

- SOMEWHAT CLASSICAL Justification: Genuine partnership language appears; more explicit parent-formation offerings would strengthen this category.

Overall Assessment

Overall rating: CLASSICAL

BCS demonstrates an integrated Christian classical identity: a Scripture-centered and Christ-centered metaphysical foundation; the aim of formation in wisdom and virtue guided by truth, goodness, and beauty; a liberal-arts/Trivium curriculum with classical languages; and hallmark pedagogies (Socratic, memorization/recitation, and scholé). Faculty and Parent/Community evidence is positive but lighter in detail than the other categories based on public-facing materials surfaced by the crawl.

What would move the needle (for SOMEWHAT CLASSICAL categories)

- Faculty
- Publish a “Portrait of a Teacher” and/or “Portrait of a Graduate” emphasizing virtue, wisdom, and classical pedagogy; describe faculty formation in classical methods (e.g., internal Great Books seminars, classical pedagogy training). This would add explicit matches to “faculty of friends,” “mentor,” and “living curriculum” indicators.
- Parents & Community
- Advertise specific parent-formation opportunities (parent reading groups, classical education workshops, or seminars on the Trivium and scholé), and note an “open campus/hospitality” ethos for routine parent involvement. These would score additional positive keywords (parent formation, book clubs, seminars).

Evidence Appendix (select highlights with inline citations)

- Mission and “classical liberal arts” emphasis; JK–12 scope; Scripture-centered formation; telos; true/-good/beautiful; Trivium; Latin/Greek: BCS “Our Mission,” “About Us,” “Philosophy of Education,” “Classical Methodology” pages.

- Pedagogy (Socratic, memorization, scholé/leisure): “Classical Methodology.”
 - Parents & Community (partnership cues): “Parent Links,” About/mission copy, and a parent testimonial stating BCS “genuinely partners with parents.”
 - Keyword framework and lexicon used to score categories: “Six Essential Elements” and classical-ity_lexicon.v2.2.
-

Appendix

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE DISCLAIMER

This audit was conducted using artificial intelligence tools (including large language models and automated web-analysis scripts) to evaluate the extent to which school websites reflect or incorporate recognized principles of classical education (e.g., the trivium, emphasis on truth/beauty/goodness, integration of great books, Latin/classical languages, Socratic method, rigorous academics, moral/character formation, etc.).

Important Limitations and Caveats

1. Automated Nature: The analysis relies on AI interpretation of publicly-accessible school website content as of the date of the audit. It does not involve direct contact with schools, review of internal documents, classroom observation, or verification of curriculum implementation beyond what is stated or implied on the website.
2. Probabilistic Results: Scores and assessments are probabilistic and reflect the AI's best interpretation of available text and site structure. They are not infallible and may miss nuance, context, or recent changes not yet reflected online.
3. Subjectivity of Classical Education: "Classical Education" encompasses a range of traditions and interpretations (e.g., Dorothy Sayers' trivium model, Classical Christian Education, Great Books programs, etc.). The Humanitas Institute Audit of the Six Elements of Classical Education uses a broad, consensus-based framework derived from prominent classical education organizations and thought leaders. Reasonable people may disagree on weighting or inclusion of specific criteria.
4. No Official Endorsement or Certification: Results do not constitute official endorsement, accreditation, or certification by any classical education organization. They are provided for informational and research purposes only.
5. Potential for Error: Websites may be incomplete, poorly worded, or temporarily inaccurate. Conversely, sophisticated marketing language may create false positives. Human review by parents, educators, or classical education experts is strongly recommended before drawing final conclusions about any school.
6. Data Privacy and Ethics: Only publicly available information was analyzed. No attempts were made to access password-protected areas or collect personal data.
7. No Liability: The authors, developers, and distributors of this audit assume no liability for decisions made on the basis of these results. Users are solely responsible for their own due diligence.

By reading or using this document, you acknowledge and accept the limitations described above.